ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This work is the outcome of the field research that was conducted on the west bank of Luxor and at ElKab in the winter and spring of 2009. The post-doctoral fellowship that funded my research was granted by the United States' Department of State, Bureau of Education and Cultural Affairs and administered through the American Research Center in Egypt.

I would like to begin by thanking the Supreme Council of Antiquities for allowing me access to the individual tombs, without which my work would not have been possible. I would like to thank Dr. Zahi Hawass, Mr. Mansour Boreik, Mr. Mustafa Waziri, and my inspector Hassan Ramadan for facilitating my project. Chicago House graciously allowed me to use their library facilities while I was living in Luxor and conducting research. I would like to thank the late Dr. Lanny Bell who made my transition to Luxor so easy; Reis Ali Farouk and Reis Omar Farouk for making ground transportation simple; my inspector Hassan Ramadan for navigating the tombs on the west bank during and after the demolition of the Gurna village houses.

Additionally, I am thankful to the many people who helped me complete my research and writing in numerous ways. I am thankful to the late Edwin Brock and to Lila Pinch Brock for providing me with photographs of the remaining fragments of the Sacred District scene in Theban Tomb 120. Ted Brock was a friend to me both during my fieldwork and after, and I will miss having a Stella with him at the roof top restaurant of the Saint Joseph Hotel. Ted was a fountain of practical information on how to efficiently navigate Luxor (both ancient and modern), and his expertise in the field helped make fieldwork much more manageable. John Shearman and Dr. Andrew Bednarski of the American Research Center in Egypt (Luxor) generously allowed me to visit Theban Tomb 110 during their conservation work, which allowed for a better understanding of the placement of the Sacred District in that tomb. I would also like to thank Khadija Adams, Conservation Manager in Luxor for the American Research Center in Egypt, and Dr. JJ Shirley for providing me with photographs of the left wall of the passage of Theban Tomb 110 that greatly enhanced the remaining images. Dr. Peter Brand, from the University of Memphis, has kindly shared with me his wonderful photographs of the ElKab tombs and has allowed me to include them in my work. Dr. José Galán of the Spanish National Research council has graciously shared photographs of what remains of the Sacred District scene taken during his current archaeological investigation in Theban Tomb 12. I am also grateful to the late Dr. Ramadan Hussein for his time and patience in answering my many questions about working in Egypt, and without whose help I may not have had the courage to begin this project. Dr. Melinda Hartwig of Georgia State University generously provided me with a line-drawing and a detailed description of the left wall of the passage of the tomb of Menna, for which I am very appreciative. I would also like to thank Dr. Janet Richards from the University of Michigan for taking the time to correspond with me via email to answer questions about the processional route at Abydos and the Mysteries of Osiris. I would also like to thank Dr. John Baines for sharing with me his new manuscript on "Watery Egyptian Landscapes and Performances Within Them." Thank you to Dr. J. R. Pellini for corresponding with me about Theban Tomb 123 and to Thierry Benderitter for helping with images of Theban Tomb 100. Emily Carson was a great help in editing the final draft of this work, but any errors that still remain are entirely my own. I would also like to thank Dr. Lanny Bell for providing constant encouragement for my research and for being a wonderful sounding board for my ideas. And finally, I am most grateful for the loving support and the unrelenting reassurance of my husband Jeffrey Moore, who has championed my cause and encouraged me for many years while I finished my manuscript, and for my mother Diane Diamond who helped with my children while I was working in Egypt.
